

Peter Afarian, AHS '95, killed in crash

Best friend charged in death

By Don Staruk

Peter M. Afarian, 19, of 4 Ferndale Ave., a 1995 Andover High School graduate, was killed early Sunday morning when the car in which he was riding struck a utility pole near 359 Lowell St. He and three friends were returning from a concert at Great Woods Performing Arts Center in Mansfield when the crash occurred at 12:45 a.m.

Peter M. Afarian

Jason M. Veilleux, 18, of 197 High St., Apt. 18, the driver, a friend and former classmate of Mr. Afarian, was speeding and admitted to police that he had been drinking and fell asleep at the wheel, according to Andover Patrolman John Pathiakos, who is investigating the accident.

Mr. Veilleux was arraigned Tuesday in Lawrence District Court on charges of motor vehicle homicide, operating under the influence of alcohol, operating to endanger and being a minor carrying/transporting alcohol. He entered a not-guilty plea and was released on $1,500 cash bail and his license was revoked. He is scheduled to be back in court Aug. 30 for a pretrial hearing.

Scott W. Munroe, 19, of 10 Elysian Drive, and Ryan J. Moynihan, 20, of 10 Howell Drive, the two other passengers in the car, were not charged. Mr. Moynihan bruised or broke an ankle and all three received minor

Love of gardening could mean a career change for Lisa Farnola

By Karen Silver

A plethora of colors and scents shocks visitors to Lisa Farnola's house on Dearborn Lane. Ms. Farnola is the proud creator of her vivid and abundant garden, which lines her walkway.

Ms. Farnola was an emergency-room nurse for 10 years but she decided she wanted a more part-time job. According to her husband, Mike Farnola, nursing was "too stressful" an occupation. This multi-faceted woman, who is also a part-time realtor for Century 21, chose not to keep up her nursing license, but rather to focus on her passion for gardening.

"It was getting to a point where it wasn't creative enough," Ms. Farnola says of her nursing job.

Gardening runs rampant in Ms. Farnola's family. Her grandmother, mother and sister are all gardeners, and Ms. Farnola says she "adored" gardening as a child. She began her own gardens after she married, and "everyone thought they were so gorgeous that I decided to start my own business."

Ms. Farnola says she can't count all the gardening books she has and that she was primarily self taught. Her father was an artist and a mathematician, her husband is an architect, and her 11-year-old daughter, Amanda, is, not surprisingly, quite artistically inclined.

Ms. Farnola used her natural artistic abilities, along with her experience, to grow her garden. "It takes a while to learn all the plants and experience is certainly necessary," she says.

Gardening is "really a science as

Josie Walker visits her daughter in Africa

By Karen Silver

Josie Walker, of Andover, recently returned from a four-week visit to Africa, where her daughter, Sarah, is involved with the Peace Corps.

Sarah Walker, 24, graduated from Smith College where she was active in ecological groups and a member of the State Board of Masspurg, representing her school. She is a biologist who decided to share her knowledge and altruism in Lesotho, an African country high in the mountains, surrounded by the Republic of South Africa. The Peace Corps volunteer has been there for a year and a half teaching in Bethesda High School in the town of Molele's Hoek. Last year, Sarah taught physics, while she currently is teaching sciences, such as chemistry and biology.

"Sarah lives like a native," Ms. Walker says. "She has no water, no electricity, and has to go to the well to fetch her water, just like everybody else." She does, however, also get to do a lot of traveling, according to her mother.

As Ms. Walker left her music students at West Elementary at the end of the year, rather than wishing her a good summer, they told her to have a good winter.

Yes, these children knew what they were talking about. Lesotho is in the Southern Hemisphere, and while we are basking in the sun, this African country is in the middle of winter.

Not only was it freezing, Ms. Walker says, but there was a great deal of snow, creating a severe situation. Four meters of snow covered the grounds of the valley in town, and nine feet intruded on the mountains. "This large amount of snow was so unusual that it even made the news here," she says.

Several Peace Corps volunteers were stranded in a transit house in Maseni, the capital city, because after the one-month Christmas break that the Lesotho schools have, people were stranded and could not get back to their teaching sites.

According to Ms. Walker, Lesotho is the only country in Africa where people need to learn to adapt to snow. In doing so, they wear wool blankets of original Bethotho designs that come from England where they're printed on blankets and then sold back to Lesotho.

During her stay in Africa, Ms.

Walker also visited Namibia, "desert country with more forms of sand than ever"; Botswana, "which was like another planet"; and Zimbabwe.

In addition to teaching, Ms. Walker is also the artistic director of Merrimack Junior Theatre, a theater company for young performers. She runs Confetti Kids, a workshop on improving techniques, acting, and vocal skills. Confetti Kids' big debut is at Clown Town, and they go different places seasonally.

Ms. Walker has no plans to return to Africa in the near future, and Sarah will return home in six months. She does say, however, that "Africa was phenomenal."

Mr. and Mrs.
Anthony Dollard

Celebrating 60 years of marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Dollard of Andover were feted at their summer home at Bonny Eagle Lake in Maine in honor of their 60th wedding Anniversary. They were married June 29, 1936, at St. Jean-Baptiste Church in Lynn.

Tony Dollard was born in Ste Marie de Kent, New Brunswick, and grew up in Fitchburg and Lynn. He worked for J.B. Blood's Market and later at H.P. Hoods for 29 years. Annette Gagnon was born in Salem, Mass., and was a well-known concert pianist and music teacher on the North Shore for more than 65 years.

For the past 10 years they have made their home in Andover with their only son, Dr. Paul Dollard, his wife, Joan, and their grandchildren, Christopher and Aimee.

More than 60 relatives and friends from Canada and New England witnessed the renewal of their vows at a Mass said in their home by Father Richard Foley, OSA, of St. Augustine.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Construction at Memorial Hall Library

Memorial Hall Library will upgrade its ventilating equipment to improve the air quality throughout the building. While the library staff will do its best to continue normal library service, these construction activities will create some disruptions.

The back entrance will be closed during certain stages of work and library users will be asked to enter the library through a smaller side door or, preferably, through the library's front entrance on Elm Square. Library users entering on the lower level may be required to take the elevator to upper levels during those times. In addition, the noise level will be higher during some morning hours as mechanical repairs are made.

The library staff and Director Jim Sutton regret any disruptions this work may cause during this time. Once the work is completed, the library will operate with better ventilation and improved comfort. For more information, call Mr. Sutton at 623-8401, Ext. 41.

Sutton Hill plans Breakfast Circle

Sutton Hill Nursing and Retirement Center, 1801 Turnpike St., North Andover, will hold its Breakfast Circle Thursday, Aug. 15, from 9-10:30 a.m. The event consists of a healthy breakfast and a guest speaker. The $1 cost is donated to the Council on Aging. This month's speaker, Jane Merida, professor weight management and fitness/nutrition consultant, will discuss "Exercise, Nutrition and the Elderly." To make reservations, call 688-1212.

Gas company doing some work in the area

Bay State Gas Company has announced that starting Aug. 5 it will carry out special work in areas of North Andover and Andover in connection with upgrading the pressure in portions of its underground natural gas distribution system.

William H. Caffrey, public affairs manager for Bay State, said the work will involve increasing the pressure in some of the gas lines from 60 pounds to 99 pounds per square inch. He said planning for the project began in 1994 and necessary technical and mechanical work has been carried out during the past year in preparation for this phase of the project.

Mr. Caffrey said the pressure increase will be done in increments, with the first set to be done Aug. 5-8. Between each increment and after the final increase, gas company personnel and additional contractors will check all the involved mains, services and meters with leak detection equipment and make any repairs or adjustments needed.

A similar procedure will be repeated Aug. 12-16 on other portions of the underground gas distribution system.

Mr. Caffrey said the system upgrade is needed because of continuing growth in natural gas used by Bay State's residential, commercial and industrial customers in Greater Lawrence. "Our goal is to do everything possible to minimize any inconvenience during the work for our customers, their neighbors and the public at large." Call Nancy Trainor at Bay State Gas Company in Lawrence at 687-1105 for more details.

Cholesterol screening set for Aug. 14

The Andover Board of Health will hold a cholesterol screening clinic on Wednesday, Aug. 14, from 9 a.m. to noon for Andover residents only.

An appointment is necessary.

The simple fingerstick test for total cholesterol costs $5 and does not require fasting. The program includes dietary counseling by the public health nurse and referral to your private physician for follow-up care as needed.

For further information or an appointment, call the health department at 623-8295.

Duathlete competing in memory of her father

By Eric M. Danis

Duathlons are a grueling competition in which participants run, bike, and then run again. Danielle Sadler, 20 years old, won third place in her age group (16-19 years) in the USA 1996 National Duathlon Championship last year and in doing so qualified for the World Duathlon Championship.

Ms. Sadler and the other members of Team Duathlon USA will compete in Ferrara, Italy. Ferrara is located between Venice and Florence.

The world competition will be held Sept. 15, which coincides with the starting date of Georgetown University, where Ms. Sadler will be a junior. "(The World Duathlon) is an opportunity that I can't pass up. I'm sure my teachers will understand," she says.

Ms. Sadler began running because of the influence of her father, Michael Sadler. "He used to be a big runner when he was younger, so I was always running, too," says Ms. Sadler.

Mr. Sadler was also a cycling enthusiast. His daughter took up the sport in her sophomore year at Phillips Academy after her father built her a bike out of spare parts. Although she found herself at the back of the pack initially, by her senior year she was elected captain and won the MVP award. She also participated in field hockey and ice hockey at PA.

Being a three-sport athlete at PA was time consuming, so Ms. Sadler began participating in duathlons with her father in the summer, her only available time. She participated in her first duathlon when she was 16, and after that "My father and I always used to do them together."

Mr. Sadler died last year after a battle with cancer. Ms. Sadler was devastated by her father's death, and is sad that he won't be able to witness her participation in the world duathlon.

"My dad was the strongest guy, mentally and physically, that I knew," she says.

"He was such a super athlete, a part of me

Danielle Sadler, 20, daughter of Chris Sadler of Andover and the late Michael Sadler, is competing in the World Duathlon Championship Sept. 15. It's a run, bike, run again race.

thinks I need to do this because you never know what is going to happen."

Another reason Ms. Sadler wants to participate in this duathlon is because she doesn't have time for athletics once she goes back to Georgetown in the fall. With the death of her father occurring right before her first semester as a freshman, Ms. Sadler was only able to complete two classes. She must now take six classes and work 20 hours a week as a student trainer to make money. "I want to go all out for this duathlon, and then I will go back to school," she says.

However, without some financial support, Ms. Sadler may not be able to compete in the World Duathlon. She needs approximately $2,000 in order to pay for her plane ticket, the shipping of her equipment, and expenses incurred in Italy, but Mr. Sadler's death has put a financial strain on the Sadler family.

Ms. Sadler says she has been working long hours waitressing in a Rockport restaurant this summer but cannot earn all of the money she needs for this trip through working, since she works out three to five hours a day running, cycling, and lifting weights (at Silverado) in preparation for the World Duathlon.

Ms. Sadler can't guarantee a victory at the World Duathlon and admits that she "doesn't have much of a concept of the athletes in other countries." But, "I'm improving every day," she says, "and I'm pretty excited about that."

After a duathlon, Ms. Sadler says she feels a "happy warmth. You just want to stop and pat yourself on the back or smile."

Anyone who wants to help this young woman make it to the competition can contribute to her fund when she goes door-to-door to raise money. Residents can also make a contribution to Danielle Sadler at 62 Wildwood Road.

Dog and cat need homes

Photos by Lisa Adelsberger

The dog, found on High Plain Road July 24, is a female shepherd cross. She had no collar or tags. Employees of the Andover Animal Hospital say she's a sweet dog. The cat is a short-haired calico female, about 6 years old. She's spayed and the owner is heartbroken that her allergies mean she can't keep her. Call 475-3600 if you're interested in either.

Lanam Club has a new manager

By Neil Fater

Eight years ago, when Gerry O'Callaghan came to the United States from Ireland, he temporarily settled in North Andover. Today, the former Irish country house manager is back in the Merrimack Valley managing the Andover Lanam Club.

"I've had my eyes on this club for a few years," said Mr. O'Callaghan, who's living again in North Andover. "I always liked this club. I always thought it was a jewel. So when I heard that Bob (Phinney) was retiring I applied for the position - and here I am."

Mr. Phinney

Mo Krinsky's tenants seek new home

By Don Staruk

Pat Juliano took care of Morris Krinsky for the last seven years of the downtown junk dealer's life. In exchange, she and her family paid a reduced rent for an upstairs apartment in Mr. Krinsky's 33 Florence St. house. But when Mr. Krinsky died in February, the rent went from $200 a month to $600 a month, and now the Julianos are being evicted from their apartment.

"We have to be out by the end of the month," Elizabeth Juliano, Pat's daughter, said last week.

Family seeks a home

At the very latest, they will have to be out by Monday, Aug. 5, she said.

The other family members include Elizabeth's father, Paul, who is deaf, and her 20-month-old daughter, Samantha.

Pamela S. Schwartz, a Methuen attorney and executrix of Mr. Krinsky's estate, is evicting the Julianos to prepare the property for sale, according to Elizabeth Juliano. Ms. Schwartz said that is partially true, but that the eviction is also in the Julianos' best interest.

The property will be easier to market if it is vacant, and it will be on the market in about two weeks, Ms. Schwartz said. But the Julianos can't afford the $600 a month rent anyway, she said, and their chances of getting into public housing are improved by their having an emergency situation, such as a pending eviction.

Pat Juliano was a home health aide for Mr. Krinsky - running errands, cleaning his house, helping with his medications, "like a homemaker, basically," Ms. Schwartz said. In exchange for those services, the $600 rent the Julianos were paying was reduced.

Ms. Schwartz had been Mr. Krinsky's attorney for the last 10 years, and out of respect for the relationship Mr. Krinsky had with the Julianos, she has not pushed them for the increased rent.

"They really can't afford a market rate on the rent," Ms. Schwartz said. "They're wonderful people and they really deserve a nice place to live."

Ms. Juliano said the family's problem is that it would like to stay in Andover, but probably can't afford to do so. Her daughter is in an early intervention program for learning disabled children from Andover, North Andover Methuen and Lawrence, and she would like to keep her in that program. "Mostly we want to stay in Andover... because of the school system," she said.

The family lived on Essex Place in Andover several years ago, but had to move when the town took that property to expand Memorial Hall Library in the early 1980s, according to Elizabeth Juliano, a 1984 Andover High graduate. "The town of Andover moved us over to Methuen," she said. They moved back to town seven years ago, and this time they want to stay.

The Andover Housing Authority's list for family applicants is closed, according to Ms. Juliano. Colleen O'Connor, acting Housing Authority director, said the wait for family public housing is more than five years in Andover, and that it didn't make sense for people to continue to sign up for something that far off.

The Juliano family is 56th on a waiting list for Woodridge Homes in North Andover, a federal housing complex, and 6th on North Andover's list for public housing.

Elizabeth Juliano said the family could make do with a two-bedroom apartment, though she would like three bedrooms so her daughter could have her own room. She said they always pay their rent on time, and that Ms. Schwartz can attest to that. Ms. Schwartz did.

If anybody has a solution for the Julianos, they can be reached, at least until Monday, at 749-7053.

Wood Park decorated this 350th year to help beautify the town

By Eric M. Danis

Motorists stuck in traffic at Shawsheen Square recently may have noticed people gardening across from the Andover Luncheonette.

Far from routine home garden work, this is a project designed to beautify Andover.

This land was given to the town in 1950 by Cornelius A. Wood, in honor of William M. Wood, Cornelius Wood's grandfather. The park, which is named the William M. Wood Memorial Park, has a monument in honor of Irene Wood Sutcliffe, Cornelius Wood's daughter who died in 1918.

Recently, Laura DeGroot, senior planner for the town, decided to plant a perennial garden in Wood Memorial Park. She applied for and received funds from the Andover 350th Committee, and the garden is now part of Andover's 350th celebration.

This garden is "a mixed island garden, meaning it has got perennials, annuals, a tree, and shrubs," said Ms. DeGroot.

The garden is 60 feet long by 20 feet wide, and it surrounds the memorial marker that sits Edgewood not only makes life easier...it makes life better.

Construction is right on schedule for first move-ins during Spring 1997 at the Edgewood retirement community in North Andover.

NORTH ANDOVER -- As construction continues at Edgewood, the same question keeps coming up over and over: "How will my life be enhanced by moving to Edgewood?" In response, Edgewood has developed a new question-and-answer pamphlet, "The Most Frequently Asked Questions About Edgewood," offering straightforward information about the new retirement community in North Andover.

"We want people to be perfectly clear that they will have complete control over their lives at Edgewood," says Kathy Hamel, Sales Manager. "And our new pamphlet explains this retirement lifestyle in a very direct, point-by-point way."

Private residences. Edgewood is a community of private residences for people who want to continue an active, independent retirement lifestyle. Each apartment has all the amenities that most people enjoy at home now, including a fully appointed eat-in kitchen, a bath, a living room, ample closet space and one bedroom, two bedrooms or two bedrooms with den, depending on the model selected. Plus, residents decorate their apartment homes with their own belongings and to their own personal tastes, says Hamel.

Freedom of choice. As Hamel explains it, no one will dictate schedules or activities. Instead, residents will continue to make their own decisions about how active or relaxed they choose to be. However, they will have the benefit of time-saving services such as maintenance, groundskeeping, housekeeping and more. These services give residents more freedom to participate in their favorite activities, explore new interests, travel, exercise, volunteer, visit friends and family, or do anything else they wish.

Unlimited access to nursing care. The Edgewood philosophy revolves around keeping residents healthy through the continuation of an active, independent lifestyle. However, if a resident should need nursing care in the future, it's reassuring to know that Edgewood provides unlimited access to recuperative or long-term nursing care in the on-site Health Center, for only the price of two additional meals per day.

"Basically, our goal is for the Health Center to be used for recuperative care," Hamel explains. "That way, residents can return to independent living in their private apartment home as soon as possible."

Excellent value. Entrance fees at Edgewood currently start at $152,600. Plus, Edgewood's exclusive Return-of-Capital™ Plan can return 90 percent of the entrance fee to residents or their estates.

Stability. Edgewood is the only retirement community in the area to be developed and managed by Life Care Services Corporation (LCS), the industry leader. LCS brings more than 30 years of experience in over 70 retirement communities nationwide. As an added measure of stability, the Board of Trustees is made up of local medical professionals, business people and clergy.

Prime location. Edgewood is located on 62 acres of rolling woods adjacent to Lake Cochichewick. This exceptional site puts residents within walking distance of horseback riding, canoeing, fishing, gardening, hiking, bird-watching, cross-country skiing and more.

"One of the best things about our beautiful location is that friends and family will love to come visit," says Hamel. "It's just a nice feeling knowing that you live in such an inviting place."

Limited availability. Now that construction is well underway and move-ins scheduled for Spring 1997, Hamel reports that the selection of floor plans and views is becoming limited. That's why she recommends that interested persons act quickly in order to reserve the location they prefer.

"I also like to point out that Edgewood requires residents to be capable of independent living at the time of application for residency," Hamel explains. "So by reserving their home now, they are assured medical acceptance when they're ready to move in."

For a free copy of Edgewood's new question-and-answer pamphlet, or to arrange a personal tour of a model apartment home, call Kathy Hamel during business hours at (508) 689-0202.

right in the garden. An irrigation system has been installed and benches will soon be placed near the garden for public use. Signs will also eventually adorn the garden, commemorating the fact that Wood Park is a public park that was funded by the 350th Committee.

Ms. DeGroot is "hoping that people will be drawn" to this public garden. "We really want this to be a community project," she said.

A community project it has become, as Ms. DeGroot, her husband, Bob, members of the Shawsheen neighborhood and other volunteers combined their efforts and talents for the project. The community team has been working "almost every weekend since early June" said Ms. DeGroot, "for many hours."

Creating this garden was hard work at times, and the most "strenuous part was getting the garden cut out and the huge rocks that had to be set," she said.

Ms. DeGroot stressed that this project could not have been completed without the help of many people:

Norma Gammon, Carol Tanski, Fred Stott, Mr. and Mrs. Connie Wood and Joyce Ringleb were all instrumental for their inspiration and encouragement, said Ms. DeGroot.

Jim Brightney, Ken Parker, Bob McQuade and Brian Moore provided town-backed assistance.

Also contributing were Gary Moulton, Steve Reilly, members of the Andover Police Department, Spring Hill Nursery, Konjoian Nursery, Van Berkum Nursery, Al Cavallaro and Bigelow Nursery.

Garden helpers were Ray Flynn, John Davidson, John Wermers, Steve Trachym, Bruce Hale, Philip Hale, Courtney Hale, Jimmy Hale, Ricky Robidoux, Tony Torrisi, Rodney Smith, Fred Stott, Steve Colyer, John Hartley, Ann Knowles and Bob and Laura DeGroot.

However, now the garden cannot thrive without "volunteers to assist with maintenance," said Ms. DeGroot.

While some volunteers are already lined up, more are needed.

The official dedication of this park is scheduled for Sunday, Sept. 29.

Jacob Brown, 8, does his part to beautify Wood Park. ▶

Eric M. Behling of Andover was one of more than 1,000 undergraduates receiving a bachelor of arts degree during June 9 commencement exercises at Dartmouth College in Hanover, N.H.

The son of H.H. and Margaret Behling majored in physics.

Joan B. Cannon was one of two University of Massachusetts Lowell faculty members to receive the Haskell Memorial Award for Distinguished Teaching. The award was presented by Mrs. William Haskell of Andover, widow of the man for whom the award is named, and their son, William Haskell Jr.

Established in 1985, the award is given annually to up to three continuing education faculty members nominated by students for teaching excellence.

Dr. Cannon, an associate professor of psychology in the College of Arts and Sciences, has been on the day school and continuing education faculty for 25 years. Her teaching focuses on personality and organizational behavior and human development. Dr. Cannon lives in Andover with her husband, Raymond T. Cannon, and their three children.

Four Andover residents graduated from Bentley College in Waltham.

Jennifer Cavicchi received a bachelor of science degree in accountancy, magna cum laude; Douglas Clements received a bachelor of science degree in accountancy; Julie Diliegro received a bachelor of science degree in accountancy; Nancy Stempler received a bachelor of science degree in computer information systems, magna cum laude.

Ms. Cavicchi was named to the president's list for extraordinary academic achievement in the 1996 spring semester.

Andover residents Cecilia Isabel Mendez and Alaina Irene Schroeder graduated from Brown University in Providence, R.I., on May 27.

Ms. Mendez, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moises Mendez, received a bachelor of arts degree. She completed a concentration in visual arts and earned special academic honors.

Ms. Schroeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Schroeder received a bachelor of science degree magna cum laude. The Sigma Xi Honorary Society member completed a concentration in psychology.

Linnea M. Basu

Alison L. Werner

Linnea M. Basu and Alison L. Werner, both of Andover, received bachelor of arts degrees from Colby College in Waterville, Maine, on May 26.

Ms. Basu, daughter of Dibyendu and SueAnne Basu, graduated cum laude with distinction in her major, government. Her minor was education. Ms. Basu is a graduate of Phillips Academy.

Ms. Werner, daughter of Eric and Karen Werner, is a Spanish major. She graduated from Ballard High School.

These two students, as well as four other students from Andover, were named to the dean's list at Colby for outstanding academic achievement during the second semester of the 1995-'96 academic year.

The other Andover dean's list students at Colby are:

Gregory Foltz, a physics major, is the son of James and Kay Foltz and a graduate of Andover High School.

Candace J. Kim, daughter of Warren and Julie Kim and a graduate of Andover High School, is a biology and art major.

Benjamin C. Russell, a history major, is the son of Bruce and Jane Russell and a graduate of Andover High School.

Diana J. Dresser, a sociology and anthropology major, is the daughter of Marjorie Dresser and Thomas Dresser and a graduate of Andover High School.

Kara Jane Burbank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Peter N. Burbank of Andover, graduated June 1 from Tabor Academy in Marion. Ms. Burbank was awarded the Hamilton Webster Thayer Prize for Outstanding Citizenship at the school's 120th commencement exercises. She was head of school during her senior year, head of its TASC program, captain of the cross-country and track teams and participated as a peer counselor. Ms. Burbank will attend St. Lawrence University in Canton, N.Y., in the fall. She intends to major in English/communications and pursue cross-country and track at the college level.

Jamie B. Cistoldi of 21 Knollcrest Drive has been named to the dean's list at Bucknell University in Lewisburg, Pa., for outstanding academic achievement during the 1996 spring semester.

Andover resident Frances Cooper was one of 30 students

Time Travel Show at Library

The Amazing Time Travel Show with Jay Mankita and his guitar will be at Memorial Hall Library Wednesday, Aug. 14, at 2 p.m. The presentation of musical participatory theater will feature an eight-foot-wide Time Machine with circuitry, flashing lights and a pulsating panel of chaos.

Time traveler Jay Mankita is lost in time. After barely scraping through a dangerous black hole, he lands in what he believes to be the future. "Wow!" he says to the audience. "Look at them... beautiful, intelligent, creative geniuses. I must be in the future."

Children 6-12 will help Jay in his attempts to return to 1996 with songs, poems and intriguing props and costumes.

Free tickets will be available on or after Thursday, Aug. 8.

Tabor Academy lists honors

The following Andover residents have been named to the honors list at Tabor Academy in Marion for the second semester of 1995-'96: recent graduate Kara J. Burbank, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pete N. Burbank; juniors Benjamin J. Brown, son of Drs. Andrew Brown and Jane Balantyne, and Samuel Haddon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Haddon; and sophomore Eric H. Groppe, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Groppe.

Honors are conferred on students with an average of 80, allowing one grade between 75-79.

Let's go West!

Imagine going West in a covered wagon. Thousands of people, including children, made such a journey in the 19th century. What would it be like? In Let's go West, Thursday, Aug. 15, at 2 p.m., at Memorial Hall Library, children use their imaginations and the magic of theater to find out. The participatory drama follows the adventures of Sarah, a spunky young girl who travels West with her family in 1852. Participants don period costumes to play Sarah's family. The whole audience helps pack the wagon, say goodbye to home and embark on the perilous trip.

This exciting trip West is especially for children ages 6-12.

Free tickets are available on or after Thursday, Aug. 8.

The pollution from the one car on the left was worse than from the twenty-five on the right combined.

It's true. This is good news, and it's just one of the reasons why the air in the Greater Boston and Cape Cod area (inside Rt. 495) has been getting cleaner over the last thirty years.

- Today's average new car is twenty-five times cleaner than cars produced thirty years ago.

- In 1984, our area averaged 11 violations of the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) ozone standard. Last year, only one violation was recorded in the Greater Boston and Cape Cod area.

- The area has not had a single violation of the EPA's carbon monoxide standard since 1986.

- Lead air pollution has been virtually eliminated thanks to the use of unleaded gasoline.

It all adds up to real progress in our air quality. In fact, of the six major air pollutants regulated by the government, only ozone (smog) remains a challenge—and we are making real progress here too. If everyone does just a little bit, we can reach our clean air goals.

Call the Boston Alliance for Clean Air Progress at 1(800) 272-1604 and we'll send you information on what you can do to help clear the air.

WHAT'S UP

Skateboarding allowed!

By Mike Parziale
Youth Services staff

Jackie Chan fans at Andover Youth Services will sponsor a trip to Waterville Valley Skate Park in New Hampshire Wednesday, Aug. 7.

Skateboarders, in-line skaters and freestyle bikers are invited. Cost is $15. The Skate Park, one of the best on the East Coast, includes a vert half pipe, quarter pipes, pyramids and rail sliders. Helmets are required; if you don't have one, let us know and we will provide one.

Other activities include mountain biking, flyfishing, paddle boating, canoeing, taking Leo the trike for Evil Knevil sessions down the mountain, and swimming for an additional fee.

The bus leaves from Doherty (the Phillips Academy side) at 9 a.m. and returns at 6 p.m. Sign up in the DCS office on the second floor of town offices. If you have questions, call Andover Youth Services at 623-8242. What a deal - the first 15 people to sign up get a free marshmallow from the Andover Youth Services.

► For more information about WHAT'S UP, call Bill Fahey, Andover Youth Services coordinator, at 623-8241; or Jack Grady, Townsmen assistant editor, at 475-1943.

Todd Collins shows some style, 'boarding during Main Street Madness earlier this summer.

Future classics poetry reading

What writers' works will stand the test of time? What poems will touch the hearts and minds of readers in 50 years?

Discover Andover's poets' answers to these questions at a reading at Memorial Hall Library Thursday, Aug. 8, at 7:30 p.m.

In honor of Andover's 350th anniversary, exhibits and events at Memorial Hall Library during the month of August will focus on Andover and the future. Local poets will present one or more works by a contemporary poet they believe will still be read in 50 years. Complementing this will be selections from their own works.

Local poets reading are Kathleen Aponick, Michael Casey, Christine Gebhard, Helena Minton, Thomas Mofford, Lawrence Rungren and Mark Schorr. The reading is free and open to the public. Refreshments will be available.

Call the library at 623-8400.

Noontime programs at Historical Society

By Barbara Thibault

Rain or shine, noontime programs at the Andover Historical Society continue throughout August. The garden tended by the Andover Garden Club is lovely and pleasant for an informal setting and the Meeting Room Gallery exhibiting Andover in 1896 provides the perfect backdrop for indoor events looking at our community's heritage.

Ballardvale life at the turn-of-the-century is the topic for Wednesday, Aug. 7; a walking tour of our First Burial Ground, which is in Old North Andover Center, is Aug. 14; and West Parish women of the 19th century is the last one Aug. 21. Bring your lunch; lemonade and cookies are provided. A $2 donation is requested (members $1).

Other exhibits include "Technology in Wonderland" by Karen Harris in the reception area, and "Work in Progress" in Cheever Memorial Room.

The Andover Historical Society, Andover's historical museum and research center, is a non-profit educational and cultural institution, accredited by the Association of American Museums. Summer hours are Monday through Friday, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Call 475-2236 for more information.

Calypso-and-reggae band in the Park

The Department of Community Summer Concert Series continues Wednesday, Aug. 7, at the Park bandstand at Bartlet and Chestnut streets with a performance by Jidaketa.

Jidaketa has appeared at cafes and clubs throughout Massachusetts and Connecticut, and appears weekly at Union Square Bistro in Somerville, and monthly at Fire and Water in Northampton. Although a relatively young group, it has been busy since its inception in September 1995.

The music, which is "99.9 percent original," has been described as jazz, calypso, reggae, folk, soul - but Jidaketa is "a musical experience."

Concerts begin at 6 p.m. and continue to approximately 8 p.m. Bring picnic suppers and the family. Concerts are held rain or shine; the rain facility is Memorial Auditorium. The concert series will continue Wednesdays: Aug. 14 - Gloucester Hornpipe & Clog Society; Aug. 21 - Four Guys in Tuxes, a request band.

Openings are available for the Department of Community Services trips to Harvard Museum Thursday, Sept. 5, and John F. Kennedy Museum Thursday, Aug. 15.

The last concert at Pumps Pond is this Sunday, Aug. 4. Call DCS at 623-8273, Monday through Friday, 9 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Bernice Warshaw Educator was active at Temple Emanuel, League of Women Voters, Library

Bernice Kepner Warshaw, 82, of Clark Road, died of Alzheimer's disease Tuesday, July 30, at Prescott Nursing Home.

A native of Cleveland, Ohio, Mrs. Warshaw worked her way through college during the Depression, earning a B.S. degree in early childhood education at Case Western Reserve University in 1936. Described as friendly, active, and intelligent, "Kep" graduated with highest honors and was president of her class, from which several members went on to become leaders in education and community affairs.

Two years later she married her husband of 58 years, Thayer S. Warshaw, and moved to Massachusetts, where she became an active member of the community and reared her three daughters, first in Lawrence and then, for nearly 50 years, in Andover.

When the girls were old enough, Mrs. Warshaw prepared to return to the classroom: took courses, read all the literature, visited classes, and apprenticed herself to the head of the new "nursery" school at Temple Emanuel, then in Lawrence. She volunteered at the Sunday

Bernice K.
Warshaw

School, presided over a group of Campfire girls in her home, and ran one of the first Head Start schools.

Mrs. Warshaw formed the first cooperative preschool in the area, at Andover's Free Church, where she influenced children, new parents, and assistants, some of whom went on to start or teach in other preschools.

During these years Mrs. Warshaw accompanied her husband on his sabbatical in London, where she visited many "infant" schools, writing a report on the differences in such education for a regular monthly "parent meeting" on her return. A highlight was her acceptance as a visitor, and then as a temporary assistant, under Anna Freud at her experimental school there.

A hip injury made it impossible to sit in the little chairs at the level of her pupils, so Mrs. Warshaw trained for a related but less physically demanding career; she became a certified paraprofessional child psychologist. Finally, she volunteered for many years as a teacher's aide at elementary schools in Lawrence and Andover. Her class celebrated her 80th birthday at Sanborn School.

Mrs. Warshaw served on committees at Temple Emanuel, rising to chair of the sisterhood's board of directors. She and her husband contributed new doors to the Temple's Ark, sculpted by Jerald Shertzer of Phillips Academy; completely furnished all the classrooms; and established a fund for distinguished visitors. She was also active in the League of Women Voters, Children's Theater Workshop, and Parents League. She served on the board of Memorial Hall Library and hosted many coffees for candidates for local office.

Members of her family include her husband of 58 years, Thayer S. Warshaw; daughters, Ellie Davidson of Michigan, Shirley Roshannah of Needham and Margaret Brill of Newton; seven grandchildren, Becky Hausmann-Davilon of California, Miriam Davidson of Israel, Michael Zarin of Medford, Daniel Zarin of California; Rachel Brill, Jacob Brill and Charlotte Brill.

The funeral will be held tomorrow, Friday, Aug. 2, at 11 a.m. at Temple Emanuel, with burial to follow in Temple Emanuel Cemetery.

The family will be at the late home, 45 Clark Road, tomorrow, Friday, until sundown; Saturday 7-9 p.m.; and Sunday, 1-9 p.m.

Arrangements were by Levine Chapels, Harvard Street, Boston.

*Consider
These Thoughts*

by Garry A. Burke

ETERNAL THOUGHTS

Human thoughts about life after death range from non-existence to eternal life. The basis for such thoughts range from cynicism to unshakable faith. The fact is that all such thoughts and motivations are correct because none can be proven wrong. In the end, it may well be that our thoughts about eternity may be self-fulfilling prophesy. In the meantime, perspective on the matter comes from the words of Gautama the Buddha: "Our theories of the eternal are as valuable as are those which a chick which has not broken its way through its shell might form of the outside world." It is amusing to think of ourselves in the position of the chick when it comes to a matter which we take as seriously as eternity. It just may be that all our supposition on the matter is every bit as relevant as those that entertain the chick in its dark world. If so, we both come to see the light eventually.

While few families are adequately prepared in the event of serious illness or injury, even fewer are prepared for the eventuality of a loved one's death. Even though preparing for an uncertainty makes a great deal of sense, we still shy away from funeral planning. Here at BURKE FUNERAL HOME, we will be more than happy to design funeral services to suit any religious belief or personal taste. To schedule a consultation, call 475-5200, or see us at 390 North Main Street.

QUOTE: "What man is capable of the insane self-conceit of believing that an eternity of himself would be tolerable even to himself?"

OBITUARIES

Mr. Donahue was born in Haverhill and was educated in the Haverhill school system. He graduated from Haverhill High School.

He served in the Army during World War II.

Mr. Donahue worked at Western Electric for 41 years before retiring in 1984.

He was a member of the Telephone Pioneers of America and received the St. Augustine award for service to the Catholic community in 1990. He volunteered with the mentally and physically handicapped for more than 25 years, organizing bingo games and bringing live entertainment to patients at Tewksbury and Danvers state hospitals. He also arranged weekly dances at local nursing homes. Despite his disability from Parkinson's disease, Mr. Donahue and his family brought Christmas gifts to state hospital patients every year.

He has worked with the Greater Lawrence Association for Retarded Citizens, The Merrimack Valley Cerebral Palsy Association, Hogan Regional Center, The Don Ori-on Home, The Point After and Renaissance clubs for retarded adults and the John T. Berry Center.

He was on the board of directors of the Massachusetts

Cerebral Palsy Association and was a member of Andover Parkinson's Association.

Mr. Donahue attended St. Augustine Church.

Members of his family include his wife, Christina (Igo) Donahue of Andover; son and daughter-in-law, Joseph W. and Kathleen Donahue of St. Croix, Virgin Islands; daughters and sons-in-law, Marylin and Colin Murphy, Connie and David Comtois and Denise and Richard Peterson, all of Methuen; brothers, Francis Donahue and Richard Donahue, both of Haverhill; sisters, Barbara Evans, Elizabeth Oullette and Janet Salter, all of Haverhill; four grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews.

A Mass was celebrated Saturday at St. Augustine Church. Burial was in Immaculate Conception Cemetery in Lawrence.

Arrangements were by Breen Funeral Home in Lawrence.

Claus O. Dengler Engineer and immigrant, he served as AVIS president Claus O. Dengler, 79, of Andover died Saturday, July 27, at Sutton Hill Nursing & Retirement Center, where he had been a patient for a week.

Mr. Dengler was born in Luebeck, Germany and studied engineering in Hamburg.

He was a design engineer for Dornier Aircraft Corp. in Wismar, Germany, during World War II.

Claus O. Dengler

Mr. Dengler, his wife and daughter fled Wismar, then in East Germany, in 1945 to his parents' home in Luebeck to escape communist occupation. They immigrated to the United States in 1951.

The Denglers spent five years in Chicago, where Mr. Dengler, an underground fan of jazz in Nazi Germany, got his first taste of authentic American jazz.

He was a regular patron of the former Backstreet Restaurant Tuesday night jazz club, and was an early supporter of the New Black Eagle Jazz Band.

The family moved to Salem, N.H., in 1956. Mr. Dengler took a job with AVCO Corp., then in the Wood Mill in Lawrence.

The instrumentation engineer later headed the temperature standards laboratory at AVCO until 1971.

The Denglers moved to Andover in 1962. From 1971 to 1982 Mr. Dengler was the community resource coordinator at Andover High School.

Mr. Dengler became involved in AVIS and served as president from 1975 to 1980. He worked to revise AVIS bylaws and collaborated with Juliet Mofford, author of AVIS: A History of Conservation. In 1983, the American Society of State and Local History gave Mr. Dengler an award for the book, which was published in 1980.

Mr. Dengler brought CETA workers to clear the paths of AVIS reservations and later created the warden system to care for the 21 reservations.

Of Mr. Dengler, Albert Koch of Andover said, "Claus was a focused, capable guy. He was president of the Andover Village Improvement Society (AVIS), and also worked at AVCO, where he was a good instrumentation engineer.

"I knew Claus for many years. One of his greater accomplishments was to have a book published on AVIS. He received an award for it. Claus was a real appreciator of the outdoors and he wanted to try to make AVIS more well-known. He instituted the warden system, having a warden who volunteers to look after a reservation.

"He was a nice, nice guy. This is a great loss to conservation in Andover," said Mr. Koch.

Longtime AVIS member Marta Hornidge said, "Without him AVIS would not have been what it is today. He was very instrumental as president and he was responsible for the AVIS book published in the 1980s. Mr. Dengler was a great outdoorsman and a wonderful man."

Members of his family include his wife of 55 years, Eartha (Molzen) Dengler, who founded Immigrant City Archives; daughters and sons-in-law, Anne G. and Bert Cowan of Shaker Heights, Ohio, and Claudia K. Dengler and Alan Saltzman of Minneapolis; son, Thomas A. Dengler of Minneapolis; and five grandchildren.

Funeral services were private. Arrangements were by Emmert Funeral Home of Lawrence.

Memorial contributions may be made to: Claus Dengler AVIS Fund, Box 5097, Andover, 01810; and also to Merrimack Valley Hospice, 1 Water St., Haverhill, Mass. 01830.

Francis J. Martin Longtime resident was Phillips Academy baker

Francis J. Martin, 79, a resident of Greenleaf Nursing Home in Salisbury for five years, died Thursday, July 26, at Anna Jaques Hospital in Newburyport.

Mr. Martin was born and raised in Lowell. He attended St. Patrick Grammar School and graduated from Lowell High School. He served in the Army during World War II.

Mr. Martin lived in Andover for many years, where he was a charter member of the Briercliff Knights of Columbus and Andover Elks.

He had been employed by Mohair Plus Co. textile mill in Lowell. He was a baker for Phillips Academy when he retired.

Members of his family include his wife, M. Theresa (Taylor) Martin of Tewksbury; sons, Francis J. Martin, John W. Martin and Richard P. Martin, all of Dracut; and eight grandchildren.

Services were held Saturday at Tewksbury Funeral Home in Tewksbury.

Burial was in the veterans section of Tewksbury Cemetery.

A tribute to Claus O. Dengler, who died July 27

By Tom and Julie Mofford
95 Elm St.

As long-time friends of Claus O. Dengler and his family, we personally mourn the passing of a vibrant and interesting man. Our town, indeed the world, has need of such caring citizens who contribute so much to the community and leave behind invaluable legacies for future generations. Claus made a significant difference in the lives of many young people in particular. As coordinator of community resources for the Andover schools from 1971-1982, he exposed students to career options, social issues, various political viewpoints and broadened their cultural visions through fine arts.

Claus, with his wife, Eartha, and a daughter, emigrated from Germany in 1951. Terrible times during World War II made him vehemently against militarism and arms merchants and passionately committed to the preservation of all forms of life.

A mechanical engineer by profession, Claus enjoyed classical music and was a knowledgeable jazz enthusiast. Always a lover of the outdoors, he joined the Andover Village Improvement Society after moving here in 1962 and was elected president in 1965.

AVIS now maintains over 1,000 acres on 22 different reservations, with over 30 miles of trails. This land, preserved for public use, was obtained by gift and purchase. Claus thought that the history and philosophy of this unique organization should be told in book form in order to serve as an inspiration to other communities to set aside their own open spaces, wetlands, and wildlife habitats before it was too late and greening spaces were covered in concrete or turned into mini-malls. In 1982, Claus Dengler went to Hartford to receive the Certificate of Commendation from the American Association for State and Local History for his organization's publication AVIS: A History in Conservation.

Claus was particularly committed to wider community outreach for the Andover Village Improvement Society. As president, he organized lecture and film series, mounted storefront exhibits, coordinated membership drives, and put out pamphlets and newsletters to inform the public about AVIS. He promoted greater use of AVIS lands through such activities as spring canoe races on the Shawsheen and cross-country skiing at Rafton Reservation, now seasonal traditions in Andover. To increase access to AVIS properties and knowledge of the public conservation areas, he had the organization's first maps made and the AVIS trails labeled. Claus got Gerald Shertzer, an art teacher at Phillips Academy, to design the AVIS logo, which is now so familiar.

Dengler served as chairman of the Land Management Committee and in 1971 developed AVIS' volunteer warden system, by which each reservation was to be supervised by a member residing nearby and willing to oversee its maintenance. Claus got local schools involved in cutting and clearing trails and building bridges and boardwalks. The junior memberships he set up taught young people ongoing stewardship of the lands. In 1978, he coordinated a major clean-up of Shawsheen River with federal funding for workers available through the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA).

When the Andover Village Improvement Society celebrated the Centennial of its founding in 1994, it was Claus' idea to honor the woman most responsible for saving Indian Ridge from becoming a gravel pit and sawmill. Claus discovered a memorial plaque to Alice Buck, in deplorable condition, atop Indian Ridge and was curious to find out more about her. At the organization's Centennial dinner on March 8, 1994, local actress Susan Lenoe portrayed Miss Buck leading Andover's initial conservation efforts at a town meeting held a century before in "We Shall Have Our Ridge!"

Claus would be pleased to know that AVIS is continuing this program in the schools, thus instilling concern for community and conservation in the next generation. What better legacy could anyone leave? The Andover Village Improvement Society will likely be around when the town celebrates its 450th anniversary and the contributions of Claus O. Dengler will still be honored then.

Claus was dedicated to community in the best sense of that word. He clearly understood that the preservation of land in its natural state within a community does not simply mean a "wildlife sanctuary" but is a necessary sanctuary for the human spirit.

Lisa Farnola's garden blooms all summer long

well as an art," according to Ms. Farnola, because controlling the soil, fighting fungus infections and preventing disease are all essential elements to growing a healthy garden.

As far as soil preparation goes, she looks at the existing soil and determines the type: light, heavy or clay. She then adds compost, manure and fertilizer to the soil to create the perfect bed.

To prevent diseases, according to Ms. Farnola, "You really just need to know what you're doing." She hates spraying chemicals onto her flowers, and therefore leans toward organic disease prevention. For example, she would use baking soda to rid the garden of fungi.

One of her secrets is using garlic chopped up with hot peppers to keep away bugs.

Planning the garden takes talent and time too, she says. "You must know where to put what, because you need a flow," says Ms. Farnola. Heights, shapes, colors and textures are important entities to the perfect garden. Her favorite flowers are hollyhocks, delphiniums and fox gloves, all of which are in the pink and blue families. Among some of the few flowers she dislikes are bold yellows.

Ms. Farnola's garden blooms from June through September. Certain flowers bloom for just three weeks, while some bloom during June, July and August, she says. She has a combination scattered throughout the garden so she can have plants blooming during all months.

"You can't put all the June blooming flowers in one area, as many gardeners do," she says. "With proper planning you can have bloom going all summer."

At the beginning of her garden are numerous varieties of roses. Fantain LaTour and Sombriul and Sally Holmes roses initiate the vast garden. Dorothy Perkins pink roses flourish, and excelsa roses, a deeper pink, lie across the path from them. There are Madonna lilies, which Ms. Farnola says "are beautiful and smell nice too," and Madam Hardy roses, "a gorgeous white old-fashioned rose."

Among some other flowers in her garden are pink malvas, petunias, which have color right through September, Russian sages, several phlox, which often bloom twice, and a flower called "bed of straw" that her mother got from an older woman in Lexington. According to Ms. Farnola, "It took off. I couldn't believe how fast it grew."

There are verbena bonnarensis, tall, skinny, purple flowers, which are "just starting to flower and will be full and beautiful." Peonies and irises are mixed in throughout the garden, and pinkish fairy roses "go all summer and never stop blooming," according to Ms. Farnola.

Like a soft cloud, pink baby's breath marks its territory, and bright blue delphinium, called "blue butterflies," easily captures the garden's stage.

Straying from the pinks, purples, and whites of the garden are Oriental lilies, a prominent golden flower.

Closer to the ground is ladies mantle, a soft light green flower which, according to Ms. Farnola, "looks pretty in arrangements." Nicotiana, actually in the tobacco family, run low to the ground, as opposed to the higher nicotiana, an exotic looking plant with mammoth leaves, which erupt farther down the path. The former are gorgeous in the morning, while the latter are very fragrant at night. More delphiniums catch the eye, with their vivid purple, and sometimes light blue flowers that sit atop stems that grow to six or seven feet in their prime. Daisies bloom throughout the garden and as you approach the front doorsteps, tall, pink beebalms, often attracting hummingbirds, surround you.

Ms. Farnola's favorite, grand, ivory hollyhocks, which change color each year, greet you upon arrival at the steps of her home.

Ms. Farnola says that the best time to see the garden is between 7:30 and 8 a.m., for the coolness of nighttime makes everything fresh for the morning.

As if gardening isn't enough, Ms. Farnola also does decorative painting. She picked up this hobby in her former house. It was an old home, which Ms. Farnola thought could use some decorative design. Here she began experimenting. From there her painting picked up, and she has since incorporated both into a business.

In '83 she designed a floor cloth for Southport Studio. She created a large twisted rope on the outside with a gold star in the middle. She has done some cabinet designs of flowers and foods, which are filled with intricate detail. Ms. Farnola has never had art training, but says she would like to take courses because she knows she could become better. Of her artistic ability, she says, "It just came to me."

Ms. Farnola also designed a plan for a formal garden at Harvard University. She gave the university two alternatives. The first consisted of shrubs at each corner, an urn in the middle, ground cover such as impatiens along the edges, with a brick border. The other, which was chosen, was three spiral topiary yews, ground cover along the outside, and a brick border. People can see the garden from above, for there is a staircase rising from the bottom of it.

Ms. Farnola is certainly busy, but that makes her happy.

"I decided I will do this for business. I really enjoy it," she says.

Junkyard property to sell in closed bid

Town Manger Buzz Stapczynski said two weeks ago that the town is definitely interested in purchasing the downtown property, but Ms. Schwartz said the town does not get any special preference in this case.

"It's just going to be whoever's got the best offer," Ms. Schwartz said.

The two-family house sits on a roughly 5,000-square-foot lot at the corner of Park and Florence streets, across from the municipal lot at Park Street Village. It is assessed at $145,900. The junkyard property is about 110,000 square feet across from the municipal

But the story is not true, according to Ms. Schwartz.

There was a 10-year trust controlling the property after the elder Mr. Krinsky died in 1973, Ms. Schwartz said, "but from 1984 the property was (Morris') outright."

"Morris enjoyed the junkyard" and liked selling his junk and was not interested in selling it, she said.

cuts and bruises, according to Officer Pathiakis.

Mr. Veilleux was accompanied to court by his parents, Albert and Deborah Veilleux. Eight friends of Mr. Afarian and Mr. Veilleux, including Mr. Moynihan, who was on crutches, were also in the courtroom. When approached by a reporter, neither the Veilleuxes nor any of the friends would talk about Mr. Afarian or the charges against Mr. Veilleux.

Jason M. Veilleux

Scott W. Munroe

The homicide charge is dependent on the charges of operating under the influence and operating to endanger, according to Officer Pathiakis, and if the breath test results are thrown out for some reason and Mr. Veilleux is found not guilty on the OUI charge, that could jeopardize the homicide charge, he said. Officer Pathiakis said he expects the district attorney will seek to indict Mr. Veilleux on the homicide charge.

Calling hours were Tuesday and friends and family members attended a funeral Mass yesterday, Wednesday. [A complete obituary is on page 24.] Hundreds of people attended Tuesday's wake, where the casket was open and people were openly weeping. In some cases, it took two and a half hours to make it from the beginning of the line outside the funeral home to greet the family in a receiving line inside. Two of Peter Afarian's hockey jerseys and a collage of photos adorned the funeral home.

Mr. DiAdamo said the two families, the Afarians and Veilleuxes, met and talked Monday night. "This is a two-family tragedy," Mr. DiAdamo said. He said Mr. Veilleux was hoping to attend the calling hours and funeral, "if it's all right with his friend's parents."

"It's a tragedy for the victim, his family and friends, and the boy who's being arraigned," Officer Pathiakis said.

evening and were returning home when the crash occurred. They exited Route 495 at Route 133, Lowell Street, and were headed east toward town.

The road bends to the left as it approaches the I-93 overpass and Mr. Veilleux's car went straight, striking the utility pole just east of the Raytheon Co. driveway.

"He says he fell asleep at the wheel. That's all he knew until impact," Officer Pathiakis said of Mr. Veilleux.

The car's right-side headlight struck the pole head on, according to Officer Pathiakis. All four young men were wearing seat belts and the driver- and passenger-side air bags deployed.

A resident who lives across the street reported the crash to police.

Mr. Veilleux and the other two passengers were either out of the car or climbing out of it when police arrived. Mr. Afarian was pinned in the front passenger-side seat and was unconscious. Emergency Medical Technicians from the Andover Fire Department performed cardiopulmonary resuscitation on Mr. Afarian while other firefighters worked with the Jaws-of-Life hydraulic tool to extricate him from the wreck.

"It took them over half an hour to get the guy out of the car," Officer Pathiakis said.

Officer Pathiakis arrived on the scene about 15 minutes after the crash and found Mr. Veilleux, Mr. Moynihan and Mr. Munroe standing on the lawn in front of Raytheon Co. watching the firefighters' efforts.

"They didn't know the condition of their friend," Officer Pathiakis said. "They were concerned but not crying."

As he talked with the young men, he could smell alcohol on the breath of each of them, he said.

He asked who was driving and Mr. Veilleux said he was. Mr. Veilleux also admitted to have been drinking, according to Officer Pathiakis.

The officer pulled Mr. Veilleux aside and asked him to perform a number of field sobriety tests, which he failed, according to Officer Pathiakis. Officer Pathiakis then placed Mr. Veilleux under arrest for operating under the

Hundreds attend funeral

By Don Staruk

Close to 2,000 friends and family members attended the calling hours for Peter M. Afarian Tuesday night at the Cataudella Funeral Home in Methuen, and hundreds were back Wednesday morning for his funeral Mass at Holy Cross Armenian Apostolic Church in Lawrence.

Mr. Afarian, 19, of 4 Ferndale Ave. and a 1995 graduate of Andover High, was killed when the car he was riding in slammed into a telephone pole on Lowell Street early Wednesday morning. He and three friends, all of whom survived the crash without serious injuries, were one of four car-loads of friends returning from a concert at Great Woods Center for Performing Arts in Mansfield. All left Great Woods at about the same time and at least one of the other groups passed the accident scene but kept going, not aware until the next morning that it was their friends.

Mr. Afarian's older brother and only sibling, Gregory, in suit and tie, wore his brother's green baseball cap, backwards — just as Peter usually wore it — to the church Wednesday morning. He escorted his parents, Katcher and MaryAnn Afarian, into the service.

Joining them were family, friends, school- and teammates of Peter — including Jason Veilleux, the driver who is charged with motor vehicle homicide in the death and influence. When tested back at the police station, Mr. Veilleux blew a 0.16 blood alcohol level, twice the legal limit of .08 in this state.

"That's a lot of drinking," Officer Pathiakakis said.

Mr. Veilleux was charged with operating to endanger based on speed and his admitting he fell asleep at the wheel. Officer Pathiakakis said he did not perform calculations to determine the exact speed of the car at the time of the crash, but that "the damage was so extensive, he was way over the speed."

One full, unopened can of beer was found in the car, which was the basis for the transporting alcohol charge.

Officer William Ouellette notified

Mr. Afarian's parents that their son had been in an accident and had been taken to Lawrence General Hospital. Mr. Veilleux asked that his own father be notified of the crash, and the elder Mr. Veilleux met his son at the police station after going first to the crash scene.

When police learned that Mr. Afarian had died, they told the elder Mr. Veilleux first.

"He went and told the son," Officer Pathiakakis said, and both father and son were crying. "It was a terrible scene listening to them. He killed his best friend."

The younger Mr. Veilleux was so distraught police escorted him to the hospital in the ambulance to have him evaluated.

Peter Afarian to be remembered through hockey scholarship

By Neil Fater

Bill Cullen, Andover High School hockey coach, remembers Peter Afarian as "the life of the locker room" and as a young goalie talented enough at saving tough shots that he started as a sophomore. Now, Mr. Cullen can only hope Peter Afarian's memory will help save lives.

"If one person learns from this tragedy, Peter's memory will last forever," said Mr. Cullen. "The nicest thing about Peter was everybody loved Peter and Peter loved everybody. There wasn't any meanness to Peter. I think the world has lost a valuable human being."

The world lost Mr. Afarian early Sunday morning in an automobile accident allegedly caused by drunken driving. To help remember his life, the family has founded the Peter Afarian Memorial Scholarship, said Mr. Cullen. The scholarship will go to a hockey player who plans to further his education, with first priority given to a goaltender.

Those interested in making contributions can send checks to the Peter Afarian Memorial Scholarship, c/o Andover Savings Bank, 61 Main St., Andover, Ma. 01810 and mark envelopes with "Attention: Michele Haddad."

At the time of the accident, Mr. Afarian was in the car returning from a rock concert with three friends: Scott Munroe, former AHS hockey captain; Ryan Moynihan, who played at Andover High as a freshman; and Jason Veilleux, who was driving.

"They were the best of friends. All four kids that were in that car, they were the best of friends. They all went everywhere and did everything together," said Mr. Cullen, who knows the young men and their families.

"My own son grew up with these kids. I can remember them 5, 6 years old playing youth hockey together," he said. "All four individuals are just quality people."

Mr. Cullen said of the driver, Mr. Veilleux, "He's going to have to live with this, too, which isn't easy for him."

"They were both teammates. They both played on a co-championship hockey team at Andover High School and they were both very close."

Both were also goalies for the Andover High School team with Mr. Veilleux beating out Mr. Afarian for the top goaltender slot during their junior and senior years. Yet, through it all, they remained supportive of each other, said their coach.

"When one was playing, they would root very hard for each other," he said.

"They were pretty unique because everybody wants to play. But sports isn't really about winning or losing, it's about people," he said, "and they showed what unique people Jason and Peter are."

Like many, Mr. Cullen remembers Mr. Afarian's sense of humor.

"Peter was a practical joker, absolutely. He was the life of the locker room," he said. "After practice, in the locker room, Peter was always the focal point of everything going on."

Mr. Cullen remembered one time when Mr. Afarian and some other youth came over to his house and were sliding down a hill on his property.

"Peter, being a heavy boy, kept going and he went right through the fence. For years I teased him that he would have to repair the fence," he said.

Mr. Cullen believes others will take a lesson from Mr. Afarian's deadly car crash.

"I think people will learn from it. How long people will learn from it remains to be seen. People remember it now (but) a month, six months from now, who knows. But that's why we started this scholarship — to remind people how precious life is," he said.

Until it's gone

It's tempting to let the drinking part of the story go, and to concentrate on the life of 19-year-old Peter Afarian. But a young man is dead, killed in a speeding car in which alcohol was involved. Peter's own father, Katcher Afarian, said he tried to tell his son never to drive in a car in which alcohol was involved.

This week in the newsroom when we were discussing the story, we hoped that even one young person would read the story and make the decision to call someone for a ride home when drinking means the planned ride is not safe. No, a young person on staff said, Peter didn't learn from the death last month on the railroad tracks in North Andover where drinking was involved, kids are going to drink and get in cars.

Perhaps we could get kids to avoid the death seat, the front seat passenger place. We don't have the answers. All we know is death from the combination of alcohol consumption and driving in cars is tragic, useless.

Death at 19 isn't meant to be. We are sad, and we are stymied. How can we prevent it? What can we do? Our hearts go out to the members of both families, of the deceased and of the driver of the car. Any of us could be related to such a story.

An equestrian star

Congratulations to Olympian Kerry Millikin, an Andover native who took the bronze medal last week in the three-day equestrian competition in Atlanta with her horse, "Out and About."

If we could reach Ms. Millikin or her parents, Dudley and Elizabeth Millikin of Holt Road, we'd tell you more about raising an equestrian star. For now, we can tell all the Millikins we are sharing their joy and pride in Kerry Millikin's accomplishments. Congratulations.

Willing to give up pay for more free time?

By Perry Colmore

At a previous job I had it was not unusual for staff members to work some part of every day of the week, and to work a 70-hour week. In fact, I quit one job of editing a newspaper after two years because I added up the hours I'd worked for two weeks in December and all I could do was cry at how many hours I was putting in.

When I began at the Townsman and people began to get up from their seats on Thursdays and Fridays at 5 p.m. I asked, "Where's everyone going?" "Home," they said. "Oh," said I, and luckily, I packed up and went home too.

We work funny hours here. Monday and Tuesday the editorial staff puts in a lot of hours because we put out the newspaper Wednesday. But we aren't workaholics. We try to keep our weekly hours to 40. I found it can be done. And I think this is a better newspaper than the one where I was putting in 70-hour weeks.

A survey recently released from Robert Half International Inc. out of Lexington and Menlo Park, Calif.,

says, "Men and women today are willing to take a larger cut in pay and hours to spend more time with their families than they were just seven years ago. The survey revealed that • Women would scale back hours and pay an average of 23 percent (14 percent in '89).

• Asked if they'd give up rapid career advancement for more family

Nearly two-thirds of Americans would reduce their hours and compensation in exchange for more family or personal time.

nearly two-thirds of Americans would reduce their hours and compensation in exchange for more family or personal time.

According to the survey, the average amount Americans would be willing to cut back their pay is 21 percent, which represents a sharp increase from 1989 survey results when the same number of respondents said they would decrease their hours and salary by an average of 13 percent. (An independent research firm randomly sampled 1,000 men and women nationwide for the survey.)

I thought the statistics they came up with were interesting. See how you fit in with the answers:

• Men said they'd reduce their hours and salary an average of 18 percent (11 percent in '89).

or personal time, 76 percent of those sampled said yes. It's interesting to note that in 1989, 78 percent said they'd be willing to give up rapid career advancement for more personal time. It makes you wonder if our expectations are unrealistic: We'd like to spend less time at our jobs, but we're less willing today than we were seven years ago (although only a 2 percent difference) to give up rapid career advancement to gain personal time.

The firm that released the survey results has an interesting conclusion: "As more working parents step off the career 'fast track' and seek greater fulfillment in their personal lives, employers will need to respond with a more flexible work environment."

Acting director of Housing Authority takes exception

Editor, Townsmen:

I am deeply offended by the statements attributed to me in your recent article regarding tenants living at Memorial Circle, since they are untrue and imply that I am unsympathetic to the problems of our tenants when just the opposite is true. ["Tenants express mixed feelings on living at Memorial Circle," page 1, July 25.]

Maria Castillo, a tenant of Memorial Circle, brought a problem to my attention which had existed for four years, according to her comments. Her cellar had been flooding with water seepage through the foundation and this was causing mold which in turn was affecting her children's health. I, as acting executive director, brought this problem to the board's attention. I also paid a personal visit to Dan Trembly's office at the health department to discuss the issue.

A dehumidifier was purchased to place in Ms. Castillo's cellar to help with the dampness in the interim. Ms. Castillo was asked to come into the office to meet with myself and the maintenance foreman to discuss possible remedies and courses of action to help what I understood to be a legitimate concern. During this meeting, I asked if Ms. Castillo would be interested in transferring to another apartment in Memorial Circle but she replied that she was not interested in doing so at this time as she loved her current apartment and did not necessarily want to move.

The board instructed me to have Ms. Castillo inform me at the next presence of flooding in her cellar. I was then to have Dan Trembly come to take a look at it at which time he could inform me in writing as to the severity of the situation and we could address the funding with the state. As of this date, I never received that information from Ms. Castillo.

I would like to note for the record that I never stated "...if she wants to leave the apartment she can find another place on her own." That is not my way of dealing with problems nor is it the practice of this Housing Authority staff. In fact, I would like to commend the entire Andover Housing Authority office and maintenance staff for their outstanding performance during these difficult times of limited resources.

In the future I would appreciate being offered the opportunity to provide my side of the story before the article is printed. Third-party quoting could never be a safe bet.

Innocent puppy was maced in Andover

Editor, Townsmen:

This weekend I visited Andover for the first time with my wife and our 10-month-old Labrador Retriever. What would have been a perfectly pleasant trip to your town was marred by a jogger who felt it was necessary to mace our dog as she was standing at the end of the driveway. I could understand his reaction if our dog had been threatening, or even barking.

This was not the case, she was quiet and submissive. The man had already passed our dog without incident and then stopped, turned around, approached our dog and sprayed her directly in the face. Obviously, this individual was not willing to take any responsibility for his actions, and he offered neither apology nor explanation.

Several people have tried to justify this man's actions with excuses, "Maybe he has been attacked by a dog before" and similar statements. However, a previous problem with a dog shouldn't justify an attack on an innocent animal. When I was a student in Pittsburgh, Pa., I was pushed into the path of an oncoming city bus by a jogger. To this day, I still do not feel any urge to mace joggers as they pass me.

I would like to give the following advice to the person who attacked my dog. Save your mace for the rare dog that is threatening you instead of preemptive strikes against harmless puppies. You may find that you have some mace left when you really need it and you won't be training innocent dogs to hate joggers.

At 6:28 p.m., Eric LaRochelle, an employee at Bailey's Mobil station on River Road, reported the station had just been robbed at knife-point by two men who fled toward Tewksbury in an older brown Ford sedan. All the money from both registers was taken. Police broadcast the robbery report and Tewksbury police reported being in pursuit of the suspect vehicle. The suspect car crashed on Warren Street in Lowell and two suspects were arrested. Michael S. Dionne, 20, of Haverhill, and Rico Molina, 18, of Lowell, were each charged with armed robbery while masked, assault and battery with a dangerous weapon (a knife) and receiving a stolen motor vehicle. Mr. Molina was also charged with possession of a class-D substance (marijuana) and a second charge of assault and battery with a dangerous weapon.

After investigating the robbery, at 11:16 p.m., police arrested Junior Torres, 17, of Lowell, a second employee who was in the station with Mr. LaRochelle at the time of the robbery, and charged him with conspiracy to commit a felony. Police allege Mr. Torres planned the robbery with the two suspects.

Rep. Coon talks about insurance and protecting rivers

Rep. Gary M. Coon, R-Andover, announced recently that the House approved two legislative items. These include non-group insurance legislation and the rivers protection bill.

Developed through a collaborative effort of consumers, business leaders, health insurers and legislators, the non-group insurance legislation addresses inequities within current insurance practices by requiring insurers to sell policies to anyone, regardless of age or health status.

The rivers protection bill amends the Wetlands Protection Act by establishing strict guidelines that will ensure environmentally friendly development activities within 200 feet of a river.

"The passage of the non-group insurance legislation ensures fairness and equity to those in need of coverage," said Rep. Coon. "I am also pleased with the passage of the rivers protection bill, which affects the quality of life for every resident of the commonwealth, including communities along the Merrimack River. This buffer zone will help protect our precious natural resources."

The rivers protection bill requires further action in a House and Senate conference committee and the non-group insurance legislation requires further Senate action. Both legislative initiatives must be approved by Gov. Weld prior to becoming law.

Saturday, July 27 - At 9:27 a.m., a 1995 Ford van was reported taken from a business on Riverside Drive.

FINANCIAL STRATEGIES

by Ronald R. Hill, C.I.U., ChFC

GROWTH AND INCOME

Investors purchase stock in a corporation in the hope that they will make money on the basis of the company's having realized higher profits. Investors can either make money through higher dividend payments or by selling the stock for more than they paid for it, or both. Investors who have their eyes set on dividends are likely to focus on "income stocks," which have consistent histories of paying high dividends. These stocks are purchased for their current dividends, which are portions of annual profits that are parceled out to stockholders in the form of quarterly dividend payments, rather than for the company's future profits. "Growth stocks," on the other hand, pay little or no dividends and are purchased with the expectation that the company will grow (and the stocks price will rise). These companies reinvest most of their profits back into the business in order to expand and strengthen it. Both types of stocks may be held as part of a well-diversified portfolio, or one type may be preferable for those with other goals. Income stocks are generally more favorable for conservative investors, and growth stocks generally are more appropriate for more aggressive investors, perhaps those who are younger and have the time to let longer term market forces work as they will.

Thomas F. Caffrey, Attorney at Law, P.C.

The Thomas F. Caffrey law firm is a family affair. Mr. Caffrey, 56, is entering his 33rd year practicing law in Lawrence. Joining him in recent years are his daughter, Maura E. Caffrey Smith, 32, and his son, Matthew A. Caffrey, 29. The two joined the family practice after stints at large Boston firms.

Maura Caffrey Smith worked for Goodwin Procter & Hoar after graduating from Georgetown. She got her undergraduate degree at Brown University. She joined her father in 1991. Matthew Caffrey joined them in 1994 after leaving the Mintz, Levin law firm. He is a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania Law School and Middlebury College.

The three say their family closeness helps them provide more personal and responsive service. Their varied strengths and interests offer customers a range of expertise. The firm, which also includes a paralegal and secretary, is a general practice, specializing in estate planning, wills and trusts, civil litigation and real estate. Help is also available to small businesses or those facing nursing home issues, such as medicaid planning.

The office is located on the second floor of the former Andover Bank building at 300 Essex St. The office is within walking distance of Lawrence District Court and Lawrence Superior Court. It overlooks the site of the new district court now under construction. Parking is available on the street or in nearby garages.

Mr. Caffrey has been in practice at that location, at the corner of Essex and Lawrence, since 1963. He was in practice by himself there from 1971 until his children joined him. He was born, raised and remains in Lawrence. He is a graduate of Merrimack College and Villanova Law School. His daughter lives with her husband, Thomas Smith, and their two children in Melrose.

His son lives with his wife, Lianna, in Arlington. All three are members of the Massachusetts Bar Association. The younger Mr. Caffrey is also certified with the New Hampshire Bar Association.

Hundreds say goodbye

who attended on crutches — and members of the close knit Armenian congregation.

"We knew him since we could walk," said Jill Derderian, a church member from Methuen. Peter and Greg were Sunday school teachers at the church, Peter as recently as his senior year in high school, according to church members. The congregation has about 200 member families.

"When he was growing up, as a little child up to college age, we used to see him every once in a while, in church... and of course, teaching Sunday School, which was a great thing," said Charlie Sirnaian, a church member from Methuen.

"He was a very popular kid. Everybody loved him," Ms. Derderian said.

The church was packed at 8:45 a.m. for the 10 a.m. Mass, and stairwells and hallways were overflowing by the time the service began. More than 50 people stood outside the church on the lawn, listening to the service through the open windows. One woman knelt, others stood alone or in pairs or small groups. One mother stood with her arms around her daughter's shoulders. The daughter's arms were folded tightly in front of her and their heads were bowed as they rocked to the music coming from inside the church.

"He always had a smile on his face," said Josh Prudden, who played hockey with Peter at Andover High. "You really couldn't find him being mean to anybody, ever."

"Pete was just a terrific kid who had a tremendous amount of spirit, who would make people laugh," said Michael Marcoux, guidance counselor at Andover High. "He was the one who could break up a tense situation."

Inside the church, the blue casket sat in the aisle, between the family members and in front of the altar. Television cameras, perhaps run by technicians anxious to capture the grief caused by a senseless accident, poked their noses through side doors. One young woman nearly passed out and was escorted from the church by others.

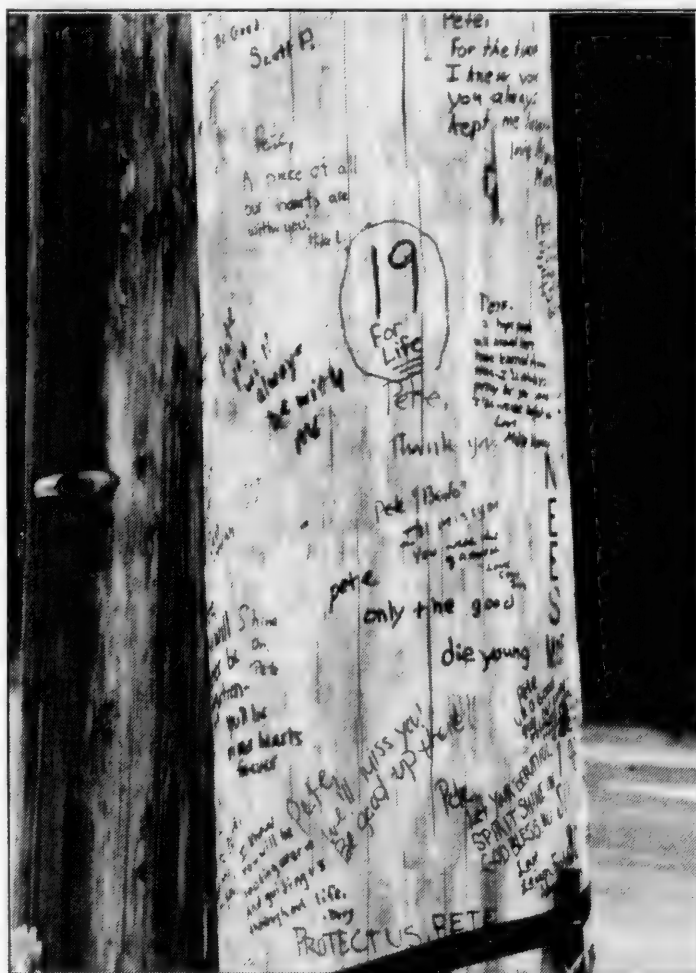

Following the 55-minute service, mourners followed a police escort through Lawrence and into Andover on Route 28. The procession stopped briefly at Poor Street while the family drove by the Ferndale Street house with the hearse, before continuing on for the burial at Spring Grove Cemetery.

The previous night, calling hours that were scheduled from 6 to 9 p.m., started at 5:30 p.m. and went on until nearly midnight.

A profile of Peter Afarian, page 43

Friends and fans of Peter Afarian wrote messages to him on the telephone pole on Lowell Street where he was killed.

'You will never be forgotten'

By Neil Fater

Spent candles and nearly two dozen bunches of flowers adorned the base of the splintered telephone pole yesterday on Lowell Street that snuffed out the life of 19-year-old Peter Afarian.

As friends and family attended his funeral Wednesday morning, the candles, flowers, half-dozen hockey pucks, cards and messages that lay near the damaged and new telephone poles by the entrance to Raytheon all served as a reminder of Mr. Afarian's influence.

"There will never be another," said a message on one of the hockey pucks.

The names "PETE" and "BEDO," a nickname, were spelled out with small rocks.

On the new, light-colored telephone pole, many of those who knew Mr. Afarian wrote messages to him in black permanent marker. The writing covered sections of the pole more than seven feet off the ground.

"You will never be forgotten. The world will never be the same. We could never get enough of your smiling face," said one message.

"Protect us, Pete," asked another.

"Your presence could brighten anyone's day," wrote a third.

Many of the writers pledged to never forget the man who made them laugh and smile.

As one pole-writer put it, "Legends never die."

Another wrote: "It is not just the teens who will miss you."

Still another: "A piece of all our hearts are with you."

With small portions of the car gathered in a pile near the telephone pole, other writers seemed to see a message in the loss.

"I hope people all around here have learned from this. I'll always pray for you and I'll never forget you," wrote one person.

A circled telephone-pole message simply read "19 for life."

Andover is top team in Suburban Pony League

By Rick Harrison

Andover finished with the best regular season record in the Suburban Pony League this summer, a big seventh-inning comeback win over the second-place Wilmington Wildcats last weekend capping a near-perfect 14-1 campaign.

That record earned the locals the No. 1 seed in the upcoming eight-team SPL playoff tournament.

Andover will host No. 8 seed Medford in a first-round game at the Doherty Middle School, with that contest tentatively scheduled for this evening at 5:30.

The double-elimination, round-robin playoffs then switch to Wilmington High for all other games, although the championship final may be played on the Boston Red Sox minor league Alumni Field in Lowell if it is available.

Other first-round pairings have the No. 7 seed Reading Rockets (8-7-3) at No. 2 Wilmington (13-4-1), No. 6 Wakefield (10-8) at No. 3 North Andover Knights (12-5-1), and No. 5 defending champ Lowell (12-6) at the No. 4 Reading Astros (12-5-1).

Local player leads MVC All-Stars in Football Classic

By Rick Harrison

Justin Connors, an Andover resident who attended Billerica High as a senior this past year, turned in a superb performance to help lead the Merrimack Valley Conference All-Stars to a dramatic 29-24 victory over the Middlesex League Stars in last Thursday's third Carole Football Classic at Cawley Stadium in Lowell.

The 6'5," 220-pound Connors, who will attend the University of New Haven in the fall, scored the winning touchdown on a three-yard quarterback sneak with no time left on the clock.

He engineered a pair of TD drives covering 95

GIVE IT TWO MINUTES

It is estimated that three out of four adults have bacterial infection associated with gum disease due to a buildup of plaque. If the milky buildup of bacteria-laden plaque is not removed from the teeth each day with brushing, it produces toxins that cause bloody gums and bad breath. In time, the bacterial in plaque will pull the gums away from the teeth to form pockets that fill with more plaque to cause trouble ever nearer the bone. The good news is that it only takes a minimum of two minutes of brushing to clean teeth properly. Studies show, however, that the typical American brushes for 37 seconds. According to the American Dental Association's Council on Scientific Affairs, this inadequate brushing time results in teeth that still have some plaque left on them after cursory attempts at brushing. Because the bacterial need a full 24 hours to reorganize themselves, a minimum two-minute brush daily is all it takes to keep them at bay.

Everyone - men, women, and children - can benefit from preventive dental care. Evidence proves that it is to your advantage to take the time for your teeth, no matter how busy your professional or personal schedule. A few minutes spent each day on your teeth can save on future dental visits. Nothing is more economical than regular dental checkups, so please call us at 296 Lowell Street, Rt 133, with easy access off Rt 93, 475-2431. Office hours are Mon & Thur 10-8, Tues & Fri 8-6 and by appointment, but we see emergencies as soon as possible.

P.S. While you are brushing your teeth, think about easing up on the pressure you exert on your teeth. Most people use two, three, and four times the pressure that they should.

BETTER TRACTION?

According to a random, controlled study conducted by Dutch researchers, there is no evidence that lumbar traction is an effective treatment for acute or subacute low back pain. This study may help spell the end for traction as a once-popular treatment for back pain. What makes the Dutch study so compelling is that it overcame the methodological shortcomings of previous studies involving lumbar traction by binding the study's subjects to the type of treatment that they received. Researchers either randomly assigned 151 patients to lumbar traction involving 42% of body weight or to "sham traction" involving only 15% of body weight. After being treated three times per week for four weeks, there was no differences to be found in the effectiveness of the treatments when the subjects were observed six months later.

At DeLORENZO CHIROPRACTIC GROUP, we believe that our patients deserve the best of health. We have complete facilities and equipment available to determine if your back pain, headache, neck pain, shoulder pain, leg pain, or other related spinal and nerve conditions may be helped through gentle chiropractic care. We're located at 15 Central Street, where our concern is your health. Call 475-5042 to schedule an appointment.

P.S. The recent federal guideline on acute back problems also found no evidence that traction has a beneficial impact on patients with acute back pain.

and 31 yards in the closing six minutes to bring the MVC back from a 24-17 deficit, after the winners had led by as much as 14 points (17-3) in the first half.

Moments before he scored the game-winning, Connors capped a 12-play drive with a 16-yard touchdown pass to Tewksbury's Ben Christopher, who made the clutch catch in the left front corner of the end zone.

When the snap on the tying conversion kick attempt bounced through the holder's hands, the MVC still trailed 24-23 with 1:02 remaining.

Christopher then recovered a successful outside kick to set the decisive 31-yard march in motion.

There were 22 seconds on the clock when Connors huddled for the final QB sneak, and after he followed his center into the end zone time ran out.

"I didn't know the time," admitted Connors. "I looked at the clock and it was a blur. I told the coach (Bob Aylward) I could make it (into the end zone). This is the kind of thing you dream about."

He completed 12 passes for more than 200 yards and two touchdowns without being intercepted against Middlesex.

It was the first victory for the MVC which had lost the previous two Carole Classics, 15-0 and 21-7.

Connors, who threw nine touchdown passes and scored five TDs himself for Billerica last fall, also plays basketball and baseball.

He spent his freshman year at Andover

High and the next two seasons at Valley Forge (Pa.) Military Academy before transferring to Billerica.

Connors wins contest

Connors also edged Dave Pizzotti of 1995 Eastern Mass. Division 2-A Super Bowl champ Reading High in the pre-game passing for distance contest.

It took an extra throw after both players uncorked a best toss of 60 yards. Connors won it with a prodigious 62-yard heave on his third throw.

Other Andover residents in the game, whose proceeds go to help the Carole Fund for children ages 8-15 afflicted with cancer, were Andover High graduates Dana McCann, Andy Lynch and Mike Shaughnessy.

McCann, who played linebacker and fullback, caught a 21-yard pass while Lynch started in the offensive interior line.

"McCann is a jewel," said head coach Aylward. "He's a terrific athlete with a great future in football provided he sticks with it. His potential is unlimited."

Jason Dalton was also selected to play in the game but was sidelined with an injury suffered while weightlifting.

Andover Post 8 American Legion baseball team swept from playoff series by Newton Post 440

By Rick Harrison

Two bad innings proved fatal as the Andover Post 8 American Legion baseball team was swept in its best-of-3 Massachusetts North Sectional quarterfinal round playoff series by Newton Post 440.

Andover, the Zone 8A champion, dropped a 5-3 decision in the opening game at Merrimack College, and was ousted after a 6-5 loss to Post 440 at the Newton North High field.

Newton, the No. 3 seed from Zone 5, scored five unearned runs in the third inning of the opener and erased a 4-2 deficit with four runs in the seventh inning of the second game.

Also advancing to the North Sectional semifinals were Zone 5 top-seed Lowell Post 87, Zone 5 second seed Medford Post 45 and Zone 8 top seed Swampscott, the defending state champ.

Lowell eliminated Salem Post 23 in three games. Medford edged Haverhill Post 4 in three games, and Swampscott swept Wakefield Post 63.

Newton went on to also sweep Lowell in the semifinals, registering 14-12 and 5-4 victories.

"When you get to this point of the season every team is strong," said Andover head coach Joe Iarrobino. "We're certainly as good as Newton and we played well enough to win both games."

"But we made several errors that cost us in the opener, and in the second game we lost a couple balls in the sun at key times. The sun was as tough for Newton as it was for us, and their outfielders made several outstanding catches to preserve both wins."

Post 8 entered the playoffs riding a six-game win streak, and the locals were 12-1 in their previous 13 regular season games to earn the No. 2 seed in Zone 8.

Andover finished at 21-6 overall, including 19-3 on the way to its fourth Essex County League Zone 8A title in seven years.

It was also the sixth time in seven years Post 8 has qualified for the playoffs.

"We had a terrific year," said coach Iarrobino. "We naturally would have liked to go further in the playoffs. But we surprised some people. Haverhill had a very strong roster and was expected to win our Zone, but our kids played very well throughout the summer."

"We played 27 games and the younger kids, 16- and 17-year-olds, got some invaluable experience."

"We have an excellent nucleus, including five starters, eligible to return next year," said Iarrobino. "We 'graduate' five 18-year-olds in (Brian) Tisbert, (Jason) Caverly, (Mark) Langone, (Hugh) Quattlebaum and (Dave) Salafia. All were key players for us and we'll miss them all next season."

Legion Playoffs North Sectional Quarterfinals

First Game Newton 5 Andover 3

Mark Langone, who will play baseball as a freshman at Stonehill College in North Easton next spring, pitched his best game of the Legion season but was victimized by several fielding lapses that led to all five Post 440 runs being unearned.

The crafty right-hander, who finished with a 4-2 record (the other loss was to Swampscott), allowed just six hits while striking out 12 and walking only one in a complete-game nine-inning performance.

"Mark felt strong and really couldn't have pitched much better," said coach Iarrobino. "He had excellent control and was hitting the corners all night. He threw hard and spotted the curve well, nailing a lot of his strikeouts on two-strike curveballs."

"He was the best pitcher on either side in the series. Even the Newton coaches were raving about him after the game."

Langone retired six of the first seven batters he faced, and 16 consecutive Post 440 hitters from the third-through-eighth innings. He fanned the side in both the fourth and eighth.

Langone yielded only one hit (single) over the final six innings, and issued his only walk to the leadoff batter in the ninth.

"He deserved a better fate. But we fell apart in one inning, with the four errors, and that's uncharacteristic of this team," said Iarrobino.

Andover started chipping away following the disastrous top of the third, but after scoring one run in the sixth and two more in the seventh the locals were shut down in the eighth and ninth by lefty reliever John Miller of Newton.

"To our kids' credit they never stopped battling. We could easily have come out on top but we hit a lot of balls right at their fielders," said Iarrobino.

An error (dropped throw) on a potential inning-ending double play opened the floodgates in the five-run Newton third. A two-run single through the drawn-in infield also hurt.

Post 8, which managed only six singles in the game, scored its first run in the bottom of the sixth.

Jason Caverly walked, Hugh Quattlebaum singled, Langone advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt, and Caverly crossed on Steve Vickers' infield out.

Mark O'Sullivan followed with a shot to right-center, but Post 440 right fielder Paul Busa galloped into the gap and flagged the ball down for the inning-ending out.

Singles by Scott Petersen and Ted Payne opened the Andover seventh. Keith Grant laid down a sacrifice bunt, and when the throw to first hit Grant in the back everyone was safe and Petersen scored.

Caverly's infield out rescued Payne to make it 5-3, but then Busa made another superb run-saving catch to rob Quattlebaum of extra bases.

Miller earned the save by pitching two strong innings of relief for Newton, issuing only a harmless two-out walk to O'Sullivan in the eighth.

Post 8's only other mild threat, earlier in the game, came when Petersen laced a two-out single in the second and advanced on a passed ball before the side was retired.

Quattlebaum and Petersen finished with two singles each, while O'Sullivan and Payne contributed one apiece.

Andover's top defensive play came in the ninth when a relay from right fielder Payne, to first baseman Vickers, to catcher Grant nailed a Newton runner at the plate.

Horseshoe Cafe

Times have been exciting for the Horseshoe Cafe since its grand re-opening last year. It has been rated the "Best Bar-B-Q North of Boston" by the Phantom Gourmet, recognized by WBZ, the Boston Globe and The New England Bar-B-Que Society for their excellent Bar-B-Q. Owner Pat Lee is dedicated to serving the finest food at moderate prices. He has succeeded in making the Horseshoe Cafe well known in the area for its Bar-B-Q as well as more traditional meals.

After many years of comparing and researching various types of Bar-B-Q's, Pat decided on John Willingham's World Championship Smoker, seasoning and sauces, marinated and slow cooked to perfection for many hours over four types of wood.

The extensive menu offers something for everyone, with an emphasis on Bar-B-Q. Appetizers include Nachos El Grande and a Bar-B-Q sampler. House specials offer St. Louis Ribs, Brontosaurus beef ribs ("big, bad beefy ribs!"), smoked sweet sausage, chicken and pork loin. If you can't decide, you may design your own combo. Poultry, beef and seafood entrees complete the menu with an interesting selection of sandwiches, salads and desserts. The Horseshoe Cafe offers a great value for your money, with over 18 entrees on the menu priced under $10. Children portions may be ordered. All items on the menu are available for take-out.

Some of the finest live bands North of Boston perform Wednesday through Saturday nights from 9 p.m. Karaoke is on the entertainment calendar each Sunday from 8 p.m. until midnight. In addition, the Horseshoe Cafe now offers Keno and NTN interactive games. The Horseshoe Cafe does an excellent job catering parties. The dining room is available for functions. They will do whatever possible to make your party special, including roasting a pig.

The Horseshoe Cafe is located at 226 Main Street, North Reading. Convenient parking is available in their lot. They are open seven days a week. Telephones: (508) 664-3591 and 1-800-499-RIBS.

Newton sweeps Post 8 from playoffs

pitching a 1-2-3 inning and striking out Jose Canseco in a pre-season exhibition game against the Boston Red Sox in Florida.

He had more trouble with Andover than he did with the Sox.

"Our kids were looking forward to playing against him," said coach Iarrobino. "We hit the ball pretty hard (two home runs) and finally chased him in the eighth."

But southpaw stopper John Miller once again picked up the save with two solid innings of shutout relief.

Five of Newton's six runs were scored with two outs.

Post 8 used three pitchers with starter Jason Caverly, reliever Rob Busby and closer Mark O'Sullivan combining for a seven-hitter.

Caverly (3-2), who took the loss, wasn't quite as sharp as Mark Langone had been in the opener but he still pitched well. The lefthander worked the first 6 2/3 innings, surrendering only four hits while walking three and whiffing five.

"Jason was cruising," said Iarrobino. "He didn't have many strikeouts but he was forcing Newton to hit a lot of ground balls."

Two of the few balls hit in the air, an outfield fly and a pop-up, were lost in the sun and both proved costly.

After Post 440 took the lead, O'Sullivan pitched the eighth and retired Newton 1-2-3 with one strikeout.

Andover, which managed eight hits off Bibbo and Miller, inched ahead 1-0 in the top of the first. Leadoff batter and season-long catalyst Brian Tisbert singled to left-center, alertly hustled around to third on Caverly's sacrifice bunt, and scored on a perfectly-executed suicide squeeze by Hugh Quattlebaum.

The lead improved to 2-0 in the fourth as Quattlebaum belted a one-out triple and scored on Steve Vickers' two-out single to right-center.

Andover finished at 21-6 overall, including 19-3 on the way to its fourth Essex County League Zone 8A title in seven years.

Post 440 retaliated in the bottom of the fourth on two walks and a hard two-out line drive single that glanced off Vickers' glove at first base.

Newton tied it 2-2 in the fifth as Mike O'Shaughnessy doubled and scored when an outfield fly was lost momentarily in the sun and misplayed.

Tisbert put Post 8 back in front by clouting a solo home run, his second of the season, to left-center in the sixth.

Caverly followed with a single, stole second, and scampered home when Vickers ripped his second two-out RBI single to right.

Trailing 4-2 in the bottom of the seventh, Newton got lucky after two infield groundouts when Caverly walked the next batter on a 3-2 pitch.

Caverly and three infielders then converged on a sky-high pop-up that should have ended the inning, but once again the ball was lost in the sun and dropped for a gift single.

"It was just one of those things," said Iarrobino. "It's a catch our guys are going to make 99 percent of the time."

Bibbo took full advantage of the break by belting a three-run homer to put Newton ahead, 5-4, and the next batter followed with a solo blast that proved to be the winning run.

Caverly cut the deficit to 6-5 in the eighth, and chased Bibbo from the mound, when he clouted a solo home run (first of season) over the right field fence.

Mark O'Sullivan drew a lead-off walk in the ninth. The next batter struck out and the season ended when pinch-hitter Ben Gibson hit a screaming line drive to third that was turned into a double play.

Tisbert and Caverly had a home run and single each, Vickers two hits and two RBI, Quattlebaum tripled and Scott Petersen singled.

Andover once again gunned down a Post 440 runner at the plate in the seventh, the relay from centerfielder Caverly to first baseman Vickers, to catcher Keith Grant.

Doran's Airport Service and Courier, Inc.

Doran's, Inc. specializes in airport transportation. They will guarantee that you make your flight on time and at your convenience. Your schedule is their schedule. Logan service starts at 5 a.m. and goes until late evening. Their courteous and professional drivers will pick up the customer at the door and drive him to Logan Airport or any other destination in the Boston area. For the passenger's convenience no additional customers are picked up, just you and your party. If the passenger makes arrangements, a Doran's driver will be waiting at the airport when he returns. The driver checks the flight schedules and will be there even if the flight is delayed. Rates to Logan Airport start as low as $35. With Doran's service there is no need to pay parking fees at Logan or fight the traffic.

Doran's Airport Service and Courier, Inc. offers two services: courier and transportation. A driver will pick up parcels, envelopes or large orders and deliver them to their destination. This is an important service for the small business, professional, or personal matters that need prompt attention, or a deadline must be met.

Doran's Inc. also provides local transportation service. It is a convenient way to keep a doctor's appointment, grocery shop, go to the cinema and visit friends. Local rates for Andover are typically $5. Senior Citizen discount is $3.50.

Doran's is offering a family rate discount at $45 each way for your family (up to five people) on round trips to Logan at the time you book your reservation. In addition to the family special, reservations made prior to Sept. 30, 1996, are subject to an additional $5 discount on return bookings.

Doran's is community conscious. They donate rides to the Andover Senior Center and volunteer services for after the Andover prom for the safety of the students.

Doran's Airport Service and Courier, Inc. is open daily from 5 a.m. until late evening. Telephone for airport service is (508) 470-3383 and their toll free number is 800-698-3383.

LOCAL GIRLS SOFTBALL ACTION

Andover Blue and Gold team is still on a roll

The Andover Girls 18 and under softball team has increased its Middle-Essex League record to 9-1 and 11-2 overall. This past week brought wins over Wakefield and Bedford. This Saturday, Aug. 3, Andover will send three of its best to the league All Star game at Woburn's Library Park at 8 p.m.

In addition, 18U Coach Jenn Morris will take on coaching duties for one of the All Star teams.

Wakefield proved to be a formidable opponent, but the Andover team managed to pull out a 6-4 victory. Jen Mann tried to start an Andover rally with two outs in the first inning by hitting a triple, but they were unable to score. Wakefield got on top with two runs in the second on two walks and a fielding error. Andover again stranded runners in scoring position despite singles from Lynne Mazza, Michelle Carpentier and Andrea Campbell. Andover's defense was able to hold Wakefield off in the third and fourth inning, giving the hometown team a chance to even up the score. In the third, Mazza shut them off on a bunt attempt, Kelly Roberge in leftfield caught a Wakefield batter attempting to stretch a single into a double and Lauren Roda caught a hard line drive at shortstop. In the fourth, Michelle Langone (third), Carpentier (second) and Roda (shortstop) held off Wakefield with great fielding and good throws to first. Andover's offense came up with some big hits by Mazza and Campbell (double) to score one run in the fourth, which with the one run scored in the third by Megan Burke on a single by Carrie Torrisi, brought them back into the ballgame.

But Wakefield wasn't finished yet, coming back with two in the fifth on some nicely placed hits. Andover's Roberge then stopped their momentum by throwing a runner out on a steal attempt of second. The Blue and Gold finally rallied in the fifth with four runs on singles by Burke, Mann, Mazza and a sacrifice by Campbell. That would be all that Andover needed to ensure the win. Mazza and Cunningham shared the pitching duties to combine for the win.

Andover got started right away in the first inning against Bedford in an 11-7 victory. Roberge set up the rally with a well-executed bunt and a steal of second base. Then the Bedford pitcher walked four in a row to give Andover two runs. Burke and Carpentier singled to score two more runs. Bedford scored one in their turn at bat. Andover matched that in the second when Roda scored from third after hitting a triple. The combined pitching of Mazza and Cunningham denied Bedford throughout the next three innings. Andover put two more on the board in the fourth on hits from Carpentier (single), Cunningham (double), Roda (triple) and Roberge (single). Bedford threatened in the fifth and sixth with four more runs, but Andover was able to come up with four of their own in the fifth. Torrisi started the inning off with a double; Mazza, Roda and Burke singled and Carpentier doubled to help Andover keep the lead. Bedford threatened again in the seventh but Andover's defense was able to stave off their attack for the win.

'You don't know what you have until it's gone' — Peter Afarian

By Don Staruk

They went to school together. They played hockey together. They joked together. They partied together. They drank together. One died while they were together. One is charged with killing the other.

But what people will remember most about Peter M. Afarian, who died in a car crash on Lowell Street Saturday night, is that, "He was so funny," according to one friend.

Mr. Afarian would sit in the back of an Andover High School

Jason Veilleux and Mr. Afarian were best friends. The two played on the 1995 AHS hockey team and battled for the starting position of goalie. Friends teased each of them that the other was looking good and might be dominating the spot. Mr. Veilleux was driving Saturday night and is charged in his friend's death. He is free on $1,500 bail.

Scott Munroe also played hockey with the other two at AHS. And he partied with them. Mr. Munroe was a passenger in Mr. Veilleux's car Saturday night. He suffered minor cuts

Growing Up and Taking a Stand, the student anti-drinking and drugs group, as one of the groups of which they were members. They were members for one semester while they were playing hockey, according to Mike Marcoux, a guidance counselor at Andover High.

College crowd

The four friends had and three still have a lot to lose.

Mr. Afarian attended Fitchburg State College this past year where he played goalie for the school's hockey team.

Mr. Veilleux, son of Deborah and Albert Veilleux of Andover, completed a post graduate year at Vermont Academy in Saxtons River, Vt., May 25, and plans to attend Saint Michael's College in the fall.

Mr. Moynihan, son of Daniel and Carolyn Moynihan, was a standout hockey player for Cushing Academy the last three years and will attend Cornell University this fall where he will be one of nine freshmen on the school's hockey team.

Peter Afarian ended his yearbook autobiography with praises for "JV," "SM" and others.

"You guys are the best. Mom Dad Greg Thanks for everything. I love you all..."

To again quote Mr. Afarian, "You don't know what you have, until it's gone."

classroom and have everyone around him laughing. Even the teacher would laugh, and teachers never got mad at him, said a classmate. His 1995 Andover High School yearbook placed him under the header, "Class Clowns," with the quote, "Fun to be around."

"You don't know what you have, until it's gone," Mr. Afarian wrote in his yearbook autobiography. The initials of several friends are in the memories recounted in the abbreviated write-up, including JV, SM and RM.

Ryan Moynihan played hockey with the other three through his freshman year at AHS, then transferred to Cushing Academy in Ashburnham. The four remained good friends. The third passenger in Mr. Veilleux's car Saturday night, Mr. Moynihan, suffered a bruised or broken ankle in the crash along with minor cuts and bruises.

G.U.T.S.

In their yearbook autobiographies, Mr. Afarian and Mr. Veilleux each listed G.U.T.S.,

For mortgagor's title see deed recorded with Essex County (Northern District) Registry of Deeds in Book 2389, Page 136

Getting To Know You

When an agent begins to work with new buyers, he or she will sit down with them and ask a lot of questions, and do a lot of listening. In the initial buyer interview, we try to get a clear idea of what they are looking for, as well as the approximate price range, considering their overall financial picture. The agent will explain how we work, what the local market is like, and what we can do to help locate that perfect home.

At this initial interview, it is important for buyers to be as clear as possible about their needs. When an agent has calculated what they can afford, he or she won't show them homes they might love but that are way out of their price range. If the agent knows the buyers want to avoid stairs, they won't be taken through three-story colonials with top floor master suites. Promoting clear communication with our customers is good business for us, and it can save hours of house hunting.
